CLASS SONG

1937

Dear Lincoln High, we leave you, leave our high school days—
All too quickly ended—go our separate ways.
We'll be thinking of you, Watch-tower, as you guide
Our footsteps, though they wander far in life outside;
Dreaming of the fellowship we found within your walls;
Dreaming of long happy hours spent within your halls.
You are ours forever, towering to the sky;
Though, since it must be so, we bid you goodbye.
Whatever lies before us for a future day,
You will be there with us, lighting all the way.
There will be no darkness, no distress or fear,
While we feel your presence beneficently near;
While your knowledge leads us through the sun and shade
of life;
Teaches each of us to bear so bravely storm and strife.
Now the day is dying; you can never die,
Though as shadows grow, we say goodbye.
